WHITE HOUSE CONFIRMS ACTION ON E15

October 8, 2018 By Ken Anderson (<https://brownfieldagnews.com/author/kandersonbrownfieldnetwork-com/>) Filed Under: News (<https://brownfieldagnews.com/news-cat/>), Renewable Energy (<https://brownfieldagnews.com/news-cat/renewable-energy-news/>)

The White House confirms that President Trump has directed acting EPA administrator Andrew Wheeler to begin the rulemaking process allowing for year-round sales of E15.

According to a senior White House official, the directive will expand the Reid Vapor Pressure (RVP) waiver to fuel blends with up to 15 percent ethanol, which would end the summertime restrictions on sales of E15.

Trump has also directed Wheeler to take steps to help stabilize the market for Renewable Identification Numbers (RINS). Those actions include limiting market manipulation and providing for additional transparency in the RINS market.

More details of the plan will be announced Tuesday. Trump is expected to announce the changes at the White House Tuesday afternoon before he departs for a rally tomorrow evening in Council Bluffs, Iowa.
